

BEAR READY TO BLOW UP PORT

Buildings and Arsenals Are Now Being Mined Around Port Arthur.

DESTROYER WRECKED IN DRY DOCK

By a Shell Thrown From Japanese Fleet, Which Is Approaching Nearer and Nearer—Powder Low and Poor, and Shells Do Not Carry.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.]

New Chwang, Sept. 16.—Japanese reinforcements are continually arriving here. Those sent northward toward Liaoyang will soon arrive, and with them great stores of winter supplies. Huge crops are being reaped throughout Manchuria.

Korea Not Sighted

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 16.—The Russian cruiser "Korea" is reported as not yet sighted. Activity in the naval station continues. Other vessels may be sent out in search.

The "Boston" Searches

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—The cruiser "Boston" returned to the harbor this morning, having failed to sight the Russian cruiser "Korea" off the coast. It will make another short cruise tomorrow.

May Be Canard

Victoria, Sept. 16, 2:30 p. m.—Naval authorities now absolutely deny any knowledge of the "Korea" being seen and think there is no foundation for story.

Ready to Destroy Fort

Chefoo, Sept. 16.—The Japanese between Sept. 8th and 10th assaulted and captured important fortification two miles east of Golden Hill, near Port Arthur. The Japanese are able to hold their position, owing to the poor quality of Russian powder. The Russian shells fall short and many fail to explode. This is taken to indicate that Gen. Stoessel's supply of ammunition is running very low. The Russians are mining all public buildings and arsenals at Port Arthur so that they can destroy them in case the Japanese take the city. A shell recently destroyed a Russian destroyer on dry dock, killing seven sailors. Another shell demolished several engines in the shipyard, killing officers and two men. The Japanese fleet comes closer than formerly, throwing a few shells in the city every day. The Japanese are receiving heavy guns to which the Russians are unable to reply.

London, Sept. 16.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Express says Field Marshal Oyama has received the most rigid instructions to resume the offensive as soon as his troops are re-equipped, as the roads will permit an attack upon Gen. Kuropatkin before winter begins. Should the Russians retire to Harbin to avoid the battle, Field Marshal Oyama will pursue them with his three armies. The collapse of Oyama's scheme to surround Gen. Kuropatkin at Liaoyang caused this order, which, it is stated, is inspired by the emperor.

The general staff is bitterly disappointed by the escape of Gen. Kuropatkin and Oyama must retrieve himself, for, according to the Japanese view, his strategy failed. Consequently, a desperate attack may be expected, which, if directed against Tieling instead of Mukden, must be accompanied by terrible slaughter.

Jap Army Is Exhausted

The entire force now is suffering from absolute exhaustion and needs sleep equally with food. It may be several weeks before Oyama is ready to advance. It is certain, however, that the Japanese do not intend to close the present campaign until they make another desperate effort to crush the Russian army.

Transports now are loading troops and supplies at Kobe and Hiroshima. These are to be landed at Yinkow and sent north by railroad. It is understood at least 100,000 men and 100 guns will be added to the Japanese army before Oct. 1. The majority of these are seasoned troops from northern Japan who are able to withstand the Manchurian winter.

Port Arthur to Be Open

The Telegraph's correspondent at Tientsin says he hears from a trustworthy source that Baron Komura, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs, has issued a circular stating that Japan intends, when Port Arthur is captured, to hand it and the whole Liaoyang peninsula over to the Chinese, who, it is understood, will declare Port Arthur a free port. He says also he learns Japan wishes, after Mukden is occupied, to take Saghalien. Then Japan will be prepared to entertain peace proposals, which must include the following points:

Terms of Peace.

First—An international syndicate to take over the Manchurian railway and operate it as a strictly commercial enterprise.

Second—Russia to pay an indemnity equivalent to $500,000,000.

Third—Russia to hand over all her ships in Chinese waters to Japan.

The Japanese will be willing to lease Saghalien to an American company for $25,000,000.

The correspondent mares his own story by adding that all of these reports must be taken for what they are worth.

Russians Object to Serving.

The Odessa correspondent of the Standard says: "The order for the mobilization of reserves in the southern provinces of Russia has caused depression. There is not the slightest enthusiasm anywhere. Eight thousand reservists are missing in Kherson. It is understood they are mostly Jews, who emigrated. There are 2,000 absentees in Ekaterinoslav and Deserabinsk."

"Not only is there disaffection among the reservists, but it is spreading to the officers. Seventeen of the latter have been arrested in the Kiev district. They will be tried by court martial for openly declaring that the war is over, and it would be a senseless waste of life further to withstand the victorious Japanese."

"Peasants and artisans have met, and declared they will not answer the summons to mobilize, and if they are compelled to mobilize they will not fight. Among the officers the opinion prevails that Russia was squarely beaten at Liaoyang. This precludes the hope of a final Russian victory."

Misery Among Chinese.

The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Mukden pictures a pitiable condition of the natives in the area of operations. Chinese refugees, he says, are now pouring into Mukden as they earlier streamed into Hailuocheng and Liaoyang. There are sad processions on every road carrying remnants of their possessions.

Destitution faces them this winter, and the whole fertile plain south of Mukden is depopulated. The Hun river valley country west and east is all deserted.

A dispatch from Shanghai says it is reported that two Japanese crept from the entrenchments to Ponglingshan fort at Port Arthur and threw bombs which caused so much destruction that the Russians fled and the Japanese occupied the place.

Cruiser Must Disarm.

Washington, Sept. 16.—By order of President Roosevelt the Russian converted cruiser Lena is to be disarmed and held in custody by the United States naval authorities until the close of the war between Russia and Japan.

The announcement of this decision was made by Acting Secretary of State Adee, who issued the following statement: "The president has issued an order, through the acting secretary of state, directing that the Russian armed transport Lena, now at San Francisco, be taken in custody by the naval authorities of the United States and disarmed."

"The main features of the conditions prescribed are that the Lena be taken to the Mare Island navy yard and there disarmed by removal of small guns, breech blocks of large guns, small arms, ammunition and ordnance stores and such other dismantlement as may be prescribed by the commandant of the navy yard, and that the captain give a written guarantee that the Lena shall not leave San Francisco until peace shall have been concluded."

To Parole the Crew.

"The officers and crew shall be paroled not to leave San Francisco until some other understanding as to their disposal may be reached between the United States government and both the belligerents; that, after disarmament the vessel may be removed to a private dock for such reasonable repairs as will make her seaworthy and preserve her in good condition during her detention, or may be repaired at the navy yard if the Russian commander should so elect; that while at a private dock the commandant of the navy yard at Mare Island shall have custody of the ship, and the repairs shall be overseen by an engineer officer to be detailed by the commandant, and that when so repaired, if peace shall not then have been concluded, the vessel shall be taken back to the Mare Island navy yard and there be held in custody until the end of the war."

Commander Asks Action.

"This action has been taken upon the written request of the commandant of the Lena, addressed to Rear Admiral Goodrich, setting forth that, as the vessel is incapable of putting to sea without needful repairs, she must disarm, and asking that needful repairs be permitted after disarmament."

Seymour Clark, a farmer, and his son were found cremated in their residence near Youngstown, O.

CHICAGO POLICE SEND BIG FORCE TO "DUG-OUT"

Of the Car Barn Bandits in Indiana—Hot on Trail of Murderers.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.] Chicago, Sept. 16.—Acting on information of persons living in the vicinity of the "Bandits" dug-out, near Miller's Station, Ind., that another gang of thieves and holdup men have taken refuge there, the Chicago police this morning dispatched a large force to the scene. It is hoped that the capture of some of the gang which recently killed Hans Peterson, a cigar manufacturer, in his place of business, may be effected.

Miller's Station, Ind., Sept. 16.—The police have rounded up two men, one of whom wore a false mustache. He is being held for identification either as one of the Chicago holdups or one of the persons who last night robbed the Calumet club-house, near Miller's Station.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

The plate glass factory of Zahn & Borley at Carlton, N. J., was burned. Loss is $100,000.

The International Association of Fire Chiefs has selected Duluth, Minn., as the next place of meeting. The members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers left Duluth, Minn., for the iron ranges to inspect the mines.

Mrs. Henry Hoff, a bride of one day, was shot to death near Mead, Wash., by a rejected lover, Fred Hoffmann, who then committed suicide.

The Canadian government is advertising here for a captain and chief officer for the Hudson bay expedition steamer Arctic, now fitting out at Quebec.

Samuel Schwartz, aged 18, whose sensitiveness many times caused him to say he would commit suicide, killed himself at Terre Haute, Ind., after a trivial dispute.

At Hoquiam, Wash., James Miles shot and killed the woman with whom he lived and then fatally wounded Ole Sand, a logger, and ended by shooting and killing himself.

The National Association of German Press Clubs at Milwaukee decided to continue the national headquarters at New York instead of Milwaukee, and elected as president Franz Richter, New York.

Peter Dalla, a saloon-keeper, was killed by an explosion of dynamite, which wrecked his home at Silverton, Cal. The police are looking for Bernardo Fueri, with whom Dalla had quarreled.

Bars Both Delegations.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 16.—The credentials committee of the Republican state convention decided to recommend the unseating of the Clark delegation and also to deny seats to the Heinze contesting delegation from Butte.

Unions for Stenographers.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Stenographers, typewriters and office assistants are to be granted charters in the American Federation of Labor. This was decided by the Federation officials.

Dan Patch Is Recovering.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 16.—The surgeons in charge of Dan Patch report that the great pacer has passed the critical stage and will doubtless recover.

DOGGED FOOTSTEPS OF SEN. QUARLES

Ubiquitous La Follette Spy Said to Have Located Himself Under Window of Spooner's Home.

[Special Correspondence.] Madison, Sept. 16.—Neighbors in the vicinity of the home of United States Senator John C. Spooner, corner of Henry and Langdon streets, were very much surprised and puzzled one day last week on the occasion of Senator J. V. Quarles' visit to the city, when he paid a visit at the Spooner home. The cause of their surprise was the fact that Mr. Quarles was followed, so the neighbors assert, right to the door of the Madison senator's residence by E. N. Quayle who is an employee at the state capital and one who has been making quite a reputation as a labor agitator. Quayle is president of the local tailors' union and delivered the Labor day speech at Marinette. After Mr. Quarles was in the house, the person still loitered about, and went so far as to station himself below one of the windows of the room in which he supposed the two senators were, endeavoring to hear something. However, Mr. Quarles and Mr. Spooner were only engaged in discussing the day events, and if the purpose of the intruder was to get an "ear full," he was sadly disappointed.

MANITOBA WHEAT CROP IS COMPLETE FAILURE

Fields in the Winnipeg District Are Still Green and Farmers Give Up Hope of Harvest.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—The wheat crop in Manitoba and the entire Winnipeg district will probably be almost a complete failure, according to reports received here.

The wheat fields, it is said, are still green, and the farmers have given up all hope of even a small harvest. The season was backward, but late in August it was claimed that if September was warm and the frosts held off, the grain, which has a good stand and is very heavy, might ripen and result in a bumper crop.

Then came reports that the black rust was spreading into Manitoba, and experts differ as to the damage done, saying it could be ascertained when the grain was threshed.

Now it is reported that in many localities there will be no threshing. Hunters returning from the north say that a large part of the wheat fields are still green. The month has been so cool that there has been no opportunity for the grain to mature.

It is not believed extensive damage has been done by the frost, but there is little hope, as it is claimed the grain can not possibly mature, and the first killing frost that is general will blight all prospect of a harvest throughout the wheat-raising area of western Canada.

Chess Tourney Next Month.

St. Louis, Sept. 16.—Announcement is made that all arrangements have been completed for the Western Chess association tourney during the week beginning Oct. 3 and the seventh American chess congress, which will begin on Oct. 10 and continue during that month.

The Newfoundland legislature has been dissolved and a general election will occur Oct. 31.

DETECTIVES ON THE TRAIL OF THE ROBBERS

Two Big Forces Are Searching Iowa But It Is Feared They Have Escaped.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.] Davenport, Ia., Sept. 16.—A large force of detectives from Chicago are at Winfield, and another division of officers are at Mount Pleasant looking for the five masked men who held up and robbed the Rock Island train of $20,000 on Tuesday noon. At noon today the probabilities seemed to be that the bandits had slipped through the fingers of the officers of the law. Davenport, Ia., Sept. 16, 2:10 p. m.—The Rock Island bandits have broken through the cordon and escaped. No trace of them has been obtained.

Defense in Indiana Murder Trial Gains a Postponement.

Rising Sun, Ind., Sept. 16.—Judge Cornet of Versailles succeeded Judge Downey on the bench here for the trial of James Gillespie, Mrs. Belle Seward and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Barbour for the murder last December of Elizabeth Gillespie. Counsel for the defense announced to the court that a motion for continuance was pending. After hearing arguments on the motion for a continuance, Judge Cornet continued the case until Dec. 7. The attorneys for the defense claimed it would be impossible to have all of their witnesses in court at this time.

STEAL SHIPMENT OF CLOTHING

Unknown Thieves Drive Off Truck Load Valued at $15,000.

New York, Sept. 16.—A shipment of men's clothing valued at nearly $15,000 was stolen from a large firm here in broad daylight. The clothing had been packed and was being carried on a truck to the railway station when a driver stopped at one of the firm's offices on an errand. When he returned to the street the truck had disappeared. No person could be found who had seen the thieves drive off. After searching the whole lower section of the city the police found the empty truck on an East river pier. The cases, weighing 600 pounds each, had disappeared.

CITY LIGHT PLANT IS BURNED

Destruction of Power House Leaves Benton, Ill., in Darkness.

Benton, Ill., Sept. 16.—The electric lighting plant owned by the city was burned Thursday morning. The loss is about $7,000, with $1,200 insurance in the Royal of Liverpool and $750 in the Concordia. The city will be without lights until another plant is completed, work on which was immediately begun. It is expected it will take about sixty days to complete and install machinery.

ARE TO ACCEPT THE DECISION

Nearly 200 Prominent La Follette Men To Abide by Court's Findings.

MAKE PLEDGE WITH CORTELYOU

Welcome Evidence Given That Administration Leaders Are Coming to Their Senses—Arguments Were Resumed at Madison This Morning.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)—Argument in the factional litigation of Wisconsin republicans before the supreme court was resumed this morning by R. M. Washford, for the La Follette side, and John M. Olin for the stalwarts. The court sits again on Sept. 27, at which time the decision is expected. Sentiment appears to be sweeping the state among republicans that the decision of the court will be followed and the judicially defeated ticket withdrawn.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 16.—One hundred and seventy-five prominent La Follette men in the state have signed a letter to Chairman Cortelyou, assuring him that regardless of the state fight President Roosevelt's campaign will not suffer and assuring him that in the event of the supreme court deciding in favor of the Cook ticket, they will abide by that decision and support the regular state ticket.

On account of the prominence of many of the La Follette men, the letter is interesting, as it includes many delegates to the national and state conventions.

It has been said that the La Follette men would split the party in the state if the decision on the regularity of the ticket went against them. Their letter to Chairman Cortelyou is their first expression on the subject and flatly contradicts this allegation.

Pledge Allegiance to Party.

The letter is as follows: "George B. Cortelyou, chairman Republican national committee, Washington, D. C.—Sir: The undersigned supporters of Robert M. La Follette in his contest for the nomination for governor and of his administration and the measures advocated by him, in the present condition of the Republican party in Wisconsin, and the consequent disquiet which it must bring to the president and to Republicans throughout the country, beg leave to assure you, and through you the president, that he need not fear

DYNAMITE TO PREVENT FIRE FROM SPREADING

British Marines and Soldiers Destroy Buildings at Halifax, N. S., in Order to Save the Town.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 16.—A fortunate shift of wind saved Halifax from destruction by fire Thursday. Nevertheless, the city suffered a loss of $500,000 in the business part of the water front and the progress of the flames was only stayed by the dynamiting of a dozen buildings by the sailors from the fleet and soldiers from the garrison.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the fire was at its height and a fearful southerly gale was pushing it straight toward the heart of the business center, consternation reigned throughout the entire city. Shortly after 4 o'clock, however, the wind suddenly shifted to the west and turned the flames along the wharves and warehouses.

There the fire raged, on lower Water street, practically beyond control, until 7 o'clock at night, when 200 sailors with torpedo apparatus landed from his majesty's steamships Arctique and Indefatigable and, with the assistance of 200 troops from the garrison, checked further progress by removing, with the aid of dynamite, a dozen

ALL ITALY IS JOYFUL OVER ADVENT OF HEIR

A Boy Was Born to the Queen Helene To Day—The Pope Surprises Royal Family by Sending Congratulations.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.] Rome, Sept. 16.—All Italy is en fête today over the birth of an heir to the throne. Business is practically suspended. Cardinal Richelmy, archbishop of Turin, will be asked to baptize the little prince and his title will be the Prince of Piedmont.

Pope Congratulations.

An indication of an approach to a better understanding between the Vatican and the royal family and government of Italy is evidenced in the report, which has been confirmed, that Pope Pius has sent his congratulations to King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helene.

The First Boy.

Victor Emmanuel III. is the only son of Humbert I., second king of Italy, who was murdered by the anarchist Bresci at Monza, July 29, 1900. He married, in 1896, the Princess Helene, daughter of Nicholas, prince of Montenegro. Two daughters, the Princess Iolanda, born June 1, 1901, and Princess Matilda, born Nov. 19, 1902, have constituted the family up to this time.

YOST'S METHODS NOT IN FAVOR

MICHIGAN FOOTBALL DISCOUNTED AT MADISON.

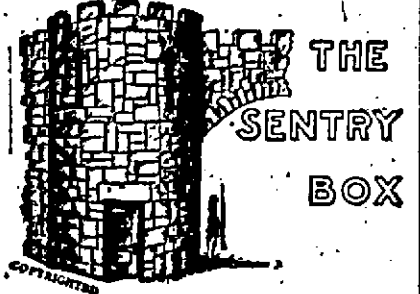

STEFFEN TOLD TO FORGET IT

Coach Cochems Has a System of His Own—Connvill Boasted and Was Humbled.

(Special Correspondence.) Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—Football methods of Coach "Hurry up" Yost of Michigan are not in favor at Madison. Two players familiar with the Michigan game in at least a number of important details are now training in the Wisconsin squad and they have been ordered by Head Coach Curtis and Assistant Coach Cochems to "cut it out and forget it."

Steffen Had It Too. Walter P. Steffen, the phenomenon quarterback from North Division, Chicago, was taught the method of receiving the snap-back and turning to pass the ball by the famous and successful Wolverine coach and began to employ this method in the practice at Madison. He was told to discard it at once and half an afternoon was spent by the coaches in drilling him in a newly invented system, the product of the fertile brain of Assistant Coach Cochems.

Michigan Man Surprised. "Smily" Connvill, a last year's Michigan "prep" man, who when he arrived here ten days ago boasted that he had absorbed the style and tactics of Yost, has received similar orders to those given Steffen and is meekly and diligently trying to acquire the manner of Curtis as a player in the rush line.

RETIREMENT OF GOVERNMENT CLERKS

It goes without saying that all persons who live in cities where post-office clerks are largely employed, are directly interested in the efficiency of the employees. It is not so universally admitted that all the people of the country are interested in the efficiency of clerks in the department at Washington.

This is true, however, in an equal or greater degree. The machinery of the government is largely in the hands of the subordinate employees of the different bureaus at the capital. This has long been the case and is growing more and more so every year.

The heads of the great departments have a very short average tenure of office. The postoffice department, the largest in amount of business and number of employees, has seen six postmaster generals come and go within the last eleven years. Some other departments have had even more changes in their chiefs, and the heads of bureaus immediately subordinate to the secretaries, etc., are only a little more permanent in official life. They change entirely with the advent of a new political party, and they are changing constantly by resignations and casualties. The only permanent force in the departments upon which the correct transaction of the public business must depend, is composed of the clerks who are covered by the civil service law, and whose tenure depends, theoretically at least, on good conduct and efficiency. Under existing laws, which have been in operation about twenty years, these clerks are appointed after competitive examinations, and are supposed to be free from the influence of party politics as to appointment or removal. The era of rewarding worthless men with clerical positions for political activity has gone, and he who is bold enough to advocate its return would help to puncture the tire on our stately wheel of progress without compensating benefit.

But there are problems connected with this fixed tenure of position which are beginning to seriously occupy the attention of congress and the public. With advancing years, the efficiency of the clerks ultimately deteriorates, but experience shows how hard it is to get rid of them. Many have been unable through misfortune, and others have been too careless, to make provision for old age, and their superior officers are prevented by considerations of humanity from turning them adrift until their disability becomes so pronounced as to render their continued employment impossible. The result is a large and increasing number of partially disabled employees who are growing less efficient every year, and whose places, for the good of the service, ought to be filled from among the throng of eager young persons who await appointment from the civil service registers throughout the country.

The remedy for this state of things is not a simple one. It is a problem of the greatest importance to the nation. It is a problem which is beginning to seriously occupy the attention of congress and the public. With advancing years, the efficiency of the clerks ultimately deteriorates, but experience shows how hard it is to get rid of them. Many have been unable through misfortune, and others have been too careless, to make provision for old age, and their superior officers are prevented by considerations of humanity from turning them adrift until their disability becomes so pronounced as to render their continued employment impossible. The result is a large and increasing number of partially disabled employees who are growing less efficient every year, and whose places, for the good of the service, ought to be filled from among the throng of eager young persons who await appointment from the civil service registers throughout the country.

FINDING PEARLS ALONG THE ROCK

BELOIT CLAM FISHERS MEETING WITH SUCCESS.

A POINT DU CHIEN BUYER

Pays a Visit to Line City—Webster Hill Makes Big Discovery in the Catfish.

Three valuable pearls which may bring several hundred dollars in the market, have been found in the Catfish river, a tributary of the Rock. Webster Hill, a former resident of this city and son of Mrs. Nellie Hill who lived for many years at the corner of West Bluff and Washington streets, made the lucky discovery. Mrs. Hill was in the city yesterday and exhibited the finds to a number of friends, stating that they had been pronounced by Chicago and Milwaukee jewelers to be very fine specimens and perhaps worth $1,000. They were found not far from the mouth of the river and in spite of the effort to keep the matter a secret the news traveled swiftly among the farmers living in the vicinity of Fulton and Indian Ford and hundreds of claims have been dragged from their seclusion and rudely torn asunder within the past few days. The Hill family lives at Fulton and Webster, who is employed in a mattress factory at Kenosha, made his discovery while on a visit at home.

Word comes from Beloit that many of the gems are being found along the banks of the Rock in that vicinity. Clam parties are said to be quite the thing now and there are scores of small boys who devote all of their play time to looking for them.

The exposure of the river banks on account of the repairs on the dam has proven to be profitable to many people. While the majority of Fulton and Indian Ford and hundreds of small ones have been harvested somewhere, from $5 to $25, and one young man was seen last night on the streets with three beautiful stones. They were small but of exquisite color. It is said that several hundreds of dollars worth have been taken from the river since the lowering of the water.

A Buyer Arrives. An expert buyer from Point du Chien was in the line city early this week, but it is not known that he found any gems such as he was seeking. He had with him a wonderful pearl about as large as a half-dime and which was a perfect bullet in shape. Its color was a silver purple and he claimed it was worth $500.

BROKE ARM AND LEG IN A RUNAWAY

Otto Long Met with a Very Serious Accident while Driving in the Town of Center.

While driving a team of horses hitched to a milk-wagon Otto Long of Center was thrown from the vehicle and seriously injured. For some unknown reason the animals took fright and ran away and in the mix-up an arm and a leg of the driver were broken. The accident happened in Center and physicians called to attend the injured man found that fractures were very serious ones.

Madison Democrat: It would do some city people good to attend the fair and see just what a premium hog looks like. If one can not go to the fair he may go to church, where he may see the end-pow hog, or ride on a passenger coach and see the double-seat hog, or even walk around the capitol square and observe the reputableness of the side-walk expectorating hog. There are hogs and hogs.

THE TRAVELING GOWN

Velvets and velvet-tees are in the highest vogue for trousseau purposes, and the smartly simple traveling gown is in brown velvet, and depends entirely upon machine stitching for its trimming scheme. The coat is fitted and smart little basques applied below the waistline, the regulation tailored collar and lapels and a tight puff sleeve with fancy cuff. The skirt is in nine gores and has a circular flounce applied in shallow point at about ankle length, bound with the same velvet and cut just about enough to clear the ground all around and display the tip of the shiny black shoe.

MORE DRUMMERS ARE COMING NOW

Beginning of Busy Season in Hotels—Business Quieter Than Usual, on Account of Presidential Election

Between a hundred and twenty-five and a hundred and fifty commercial travelers daily drop into the city, visit their patrons, sit in the hotel corridors smoking cigars or reading the papers, and are then gone again. They come from the east, the west, from Chicago and Milwaukee, from Wisconsin and Illinois cities and once in awhile the registers show a Canadian or a Mexican. Some represent clothing firms, some shoe houses, some are selling dry goods, some millinery and all staple retail articles, and still others come to sell machinery. Some go to their customers while others have their great stocks of samples that are shown in the sample rooms of the hostilities. Now is the opening of the busy season for the hotels. The "drummers" are selling the holiday goods and "go-betweens" and have their samples for replenishing the winter stocks of the retail merchants. The spring samples are also being manufactured and the sales on these will soon commence. "But merchants are conservative in their buying as a certain unrest pervades the country, on account of the impending presidential election," said a local hotel man yesterday. "Though the country is in a prosperous condition, this is one of the quietest years we will expect for some time."

PLAY FIRST GAME WITH THE NORMALS

High School Football Team Will Open Its Schedule at Whitewater—Sutherland to Assist in Coaching.

Whitewater normal will be the first team that the local high school football eleven will play this season. The contest will be held at Whitewater, Saturday, Sept. 14. The team has not as yet been selected because enough of the promised material has not been out for practice. No other games have been scheduled, though Lake Geneva, Waukesha, Fort Atkinson and one of the Milwaukee teams will doubtless be played. Dr. F. E. Sutherland, who was once a star on the Janesville team, will assist in the work of coaching.

EYE FOR BEAUTIFUL AS WELL AS REALTY

Janesville Assessor Won Wager That Four Red Headed Girls Would Not Be Met on the Pike.

Red-headed girls are at a premium in the north and it is a lucky thing for some of the local tax assessors, who twice a year makes the property owners of Janesville look meek, that this is so. The story runs that this general tax-assessor was recently in St. Louis at the exposition and chanced to observe that of the southern belles who predominate among the feminine visitors at the fair nearly all had light hair and few were graced with locks of autumn hue. While "hiking the Pike" one evening he revealed his discovery to several companions. Only derision greeted him. He clung stoutly to his contention, however, and as a consequence a wager was made, our observer laying a bet of no mean proportions, that on a stroll along the entire length of the Pike the party would not encounter four maidens with the Titian-tinted locks. Four pairs of eyes kept vigilant watch but when the tour was finished the companions paid the bet. Of the rare species but three had been seen.

GREAT RACE MEET AT LIBERTYVILLE

'HORSEMAN' TELLS OF THE EXCITING CONTESTS ON A MARVELLOUS FIELD

Level as a Billiard Table and with a Surface of Velvet—The $30,000 Grand Stand.

The Libertyville Trotting association have certainly "made good" and thrown open to the public a racing plant and pleasure grounds second to none in the country. The track is really the acme of engineering and skill in track construction and is pronounced by all horsemen who have raced over it, second to none in the country. It is level as a billiard table, with a velvet surface. The grand-stand, a model of its kind, is as its name implies, indeed, a grand and up-to-date affair. It is of steel and wood construction and cost over $30,000. It has all modern improvements for the convenience and comfort of its patrons. The stands have accommodations for two hundred and fifty horses and are provided with every convenience. Wednesday's races proved most enjoyable. In fact, there has hardly been on any track this year three more closely and stubbornly contested races. Split heats and close finishes aroused at times the wildest enthusiasm.

Collision on Track. Janita and Hartland Grattan collided in the slow trot, both drivers being thrown out, but neither hurt.

"HORSEMAN."

THE PAWNBROKERS AT MYERS GRAND

Again Ticked the Reliability of a More or Less Discriminating Audience.

Wesley and Mack, the kittenish Mazie Trumbull, and that dress-maker's nightmare—Louise Carver—ticked the reliability of a more or less discriminating audience at the Myers theatre last evening. The "Irish Pawnbrokers" has thus far escaped the proscription of the Ancient Order of Hibernians society, which is waging war against the villainous caricatures of a noble race that are permitted to parade the stage and decorate the Sunday supplements, but one cannot help wondering why. In spite of the rather wheezy singing of the soloists and the large supply of stock slapstick humor, there is no gainsaying the fact that the good sized audience last night liked the show. They have welcomed it ever since for many years past. The quartette was recalled several times after each appearance.

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, September 16, 1864.—The Janesville and Madison Fireman's Trial. The challenge of Engine Co. No. 2 of Madison to Water Witch No. 2 of Janesville is accepted conditionally, but the two companies are not agreed as to the time. The Janesville Company proposes to have the trial take place after the state fair. The Madison Company proposes to have the trial take place on or before the 21st. Janesville proposes that the trial take place either at Madison or Janesville. If at Janesville the water Witch company would stake $300 against $200. If at Madison our No. 2 Company was to stake $200 against $300. Madison No. 2 company prefers to have the trial take place here, and put up the stake accordingly.—Madison Journal.

VERDICT OF THE PARTY

From the report of the committee on Credentials to the REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION, which was unanimously adopted by the convention, June 23, 1904.

Your committee report it to be their final judgment that the convention which elected John G. Spooner, J. V. Quarles, J. W. Babcock and Emil Benson as delegates at large, and their alternates at large, to this convention from the state of Wisconsin WAS THE REGULAR CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN WISCONSIN, and that the delegates elected by it are the regular elected delegates at large from the state of Wisconsin to the republican convention, and, as such, are entitled to seats in this convention.

TO FIRST VOTERS.
It is estimated that an army of young men, one million strong will cast their first ballots at the coming election. The statement is frequently made that a boy inherits his political creed and that about the only reason he can give for belonging to a particular party is that his father is a member of the same party.

This is too often the case, and yet the fact remains that every young man ought to be able to give better reason for the faith that is in him. The Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State of the United States, delivered an address at Jackson, Michigan, last July on the "Republican Party—A Party Fit to Govern." His arguments were exhaustive, and his appeal to young men, which follows is worth reading and remembering, for it answers the question, "Why am I a Republican?" not only to the satisfaction of the individual but it inspires in his heart, love for the party. Mr. Hay said:

"Any one entering business would be glad of the chance to become one of an established firm with years of success behind it, with a wide connection, with unblemished character, with credit founded on a rock. How infinitely brighter the future when the present is so sure, the past so glorious! Everything great done by this country in the past fifty years has been done under the auspices of the Republican party. Is not this consciousness a great asset to have in your mind and memory? As a mere item of personal comfort is it not worth having?"

Lincoln and Grant, Hayes and Garfield, Harrison and McKinley—names secure in the heaven of fame—they all are gone, leaving small estates in worldly goods, but what vast possessions in principles, memories, sacred associations! It is a start in life to share that wealth. Who now boasts that he opposed Lincoln? Who brags of his voting against Grant? though both acts may have been from the best of motives, in our form of government there must be two parties, and tradition, circumstances, temperament, will always create a sufficient opposition. But what young man would not rather belong to the party that does things, instead of one that opposes them; to the party that looks up rather than down; to the party of the dawn, rather than of the sunset? For fifty years the Republican party has believed in the country and labored for it in hope and joy; it has revered the flag and followed it; it has carried it under strange skies and planted it on far-reaching horizons. It has seen the nation grow greater every year and more respected; by just dealing, by intelligent labor, by a genius for enterprise, it has seen the country extend its intercourse and its influence to regions unknown to our fathers. Yet it has never abated one jot or tittle of the ancient law imposed on us by our God-fearing ancestors. We have fought a good fight, but also we have kept the faith. The constitution of our fathers has been the light to our feet; our path is, and will ever remain, that of ordered progress, of liberty under the law."

S. A. COOK'S LETTER.

The Hon. S. A. Cook of Neenah, republican candidate for Governor, has written an open letter, in which he defines his position and declares his intention.

This announcement will not surprise the friends of Mr. Cook, and while judgment will differ as to the wisdom of making the announcement in advance of the decision, yet the right to do so, as well as the sincerity of Mr. Cook, will not be questioned.

It is a manly statement, made by a man selected by the republican party to lead the state campaign, and endorsed by the unanimous vote of the Republican national convention. Mr. Cook recognizes the Supreme court as the highest legal authority in the state, and while he believes that he is in the right, and that the men behind him represent the republican party, yet he does not hesitate to declare that he will abide loyally by the court decision.

There are thousands of republicans throughout the state who will follow the lead of Mr. Cook. Many of these men have been known as La Follette men but unlike their leader they recognize the supremacy of law, and will be governed by it.

When the Governor was told by the Chicago convention that his claims for recognition were unjust, and that he had no right to a seat in the convention, he became defiant.

He questioned the integrity as well as the authority of the highest tribunal in the party, and then came back to the state to defy the Supreme Court in advance.

This is the man who claims to be a republican and who aspires to a third term in the office of Governor. Defiant of the party, defiant of the court, he roams about the state disseminating "disorder" and preaching the doctrine of hate. In sharp contrast to this man and his methods, is the man S. A. Cook and his attitude toward both the party and the court. There may, possibly be some legal technicality that will deprive Mr. Cook and the Republican party of the rights to which both are entitled, but if justice and equity are permitted to control, there is no question about the outcome.

CHICAGO POST-OFFICE.

Postmaster Coyne of Chicago, recently made a report of the volume of business transacted, which contained the following figures:

The Chicago postoffice sells on an average about $25,000 worth of stamps, about $3,000 worth of envelopes, and receives about $2,000 daily from the second-class matter, making a total of receipts of $30,000 per day. Of this sum about $7,500 are for pre-canceled stamps; that is, stamps that are canceled in advance of being placed upon mail matter, saving a delay in dispatch of mail and inconvenience in handling after ready for dispatch. Of this latter sum, one firm alone buys nearly $3,000 worth each day. Another firm placed an order with us on September 1st last for 1,300,000 pre-canceled one-cent stamps. The largest check ever received by the Chicago post-office for pre-canceled stamps was for $25,000; the largest day's sale of stamps and envelopes amounted to $67,000.

WHO WAS THE LOSER?

An exchange submits this problem:

"A banker on his way home found a ten dollar bill, took down the number of it; put it in his pocket, and went on his way rejoicing. When he reached home the butcher was there with a meat bill of ten dollars. The banker paid the butcher the ten he had found. The butcher paid the same ten to the printer and the printer to the grocer and the grocer to the banker. He noticed that it was the same bill which he had found, and at the same time noticed that it was a counterfeit. Who was the loser?"

The shut-down of the Pullman plant throws out of employment 7,000 workmen. And the fact that the men have been ordered to remove their tools indicates that the works may be closed for some time. This is a serious proposition, and the edge of winter is so close at hand that much suffering may result. Men who have steady employment are to be congratulated.

The action of the Supreme court will make no change in the attitude of the Governor, but it will make a wonderful change in the political atmosphere. If the decision is against him, a second hand automobile, and a bad odor will be about all that is left as reminders of a lost cause. It is estimated that the railroads have carried 37,000 passengers a day to the St. Louis Fair for the past two weeks. Attendance at the fair is increasing, and there will be something left for other expenses after the government loan is paid.

It is currently reported in Wall St. that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company is contemplating a through line to the coast. This evidences great surprise, and is worthy of the system, which ranks with the first in the land.

All the time is the best time. Don't wait to begin advertising until you want something. The future will soon be the present, and taking care of to-morrow is taking care of today.

While slight frosts have been experienced in some of the Northern states, the government crop reports are favorable, and the general yield will be about the average.

The Supreme court decided one question: In favor of republicanism, when it refused to recognize the authority of the defunct state central committee.

There is but one republican party in the state.

PRESS COMMENT.

Grant County Herald: There are a few young men in Lancaster whose present career gives promise that their wives of the future will have to take in washing to support them.

Chicago News: Minneapolis traders think wheat will reach $2 but while they are pointing others up to the imaginary price they may be engaged in unloading a long line of the stuff themselves.

Oshkosh Northwestern: An eastern man has perfected an invention to take the place of the stenographer but the trouble with it is that you cannot take it out to lunch with you.

Delavan Enterprise: Judge Parker will no doubt learn before the present campaign is over that an important part of the country lies west of the Hudson river.

Elkhorn Independent: The state fair is $10,000 to the good on the year's exhibition. The "best" county fair congratulates her and hopes for as likely a balance. We have use for the money.

Evening Wisconsin: La Crosse sets a good example for the municipalities of Wisconsin with an ordinance providing for a sane fourth of July. The toy pistol and the dynamite crackers should be barred everywhere.

Racine Journal: Some cities hold their parks so sacred no one is permitted to walk on the grass without being arrested therefor, and even children are not permitted to sail their toy boats in the park waters. What are parks for?

LaCrosse Chronicle: "Joe" Kall, who conducts a favorite rendezvous for administration newspaper men in Milwaukee, has been robbed by a porter. Needless to say the administration's organ secured a "scoup."

Chicago Chronicle: Comes poor, old Saint Looney, likewise, to cackle at Chicago's loss of population as shown in the school census. Let us surrender the city charter. Humiliation can go no farther.

Indianapolis News: The report that the apple crop will be large this year is encouraging. Now, if we can just get the spice men to be satisfied with a fair crop, prevent a corner in raisins and persuade the millers not to price flour, beyond the reach of the ordinary household, we may yet, in this year of our prosperity, harvest one of the finest mince pie crops that Thanksgiving has ever seen.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The light shed upon the Wisconsin situation by papers published at a distance from the seat of war is something bewildering. The latest illumination comes from the Cincinnati Inquirer, which gravely informs its readers that La Follette and his ticket have finally been recognized by the old republican state central committee.

Chicago Record-Herald: That dyed-in-the-wool organ of Republicanism, the Chicago Chronicle, discusses editorially, with every evidence of satisfaction, the election of "John F. Hill" as governor of Maine. It is too bad to throw cold water on sizzling partisan enthusiasm, but the fact nevertheless remains that Mr. Hill was elected governor two years ago, and that the present governor-elect is William T. Cobb.

Beloit Free Press: The one thing which looks bad about the carnival is that Jansville—mind you, Jansville—voted it down. What Jansville won't have must be bad. Ten special officers will be on the streets and Chief of Police Schell will give battalion drill every morning at 7 o'clock. The chief will likely detail two officers to look after the loading and unloading of trolley cars.

Milwaukee Journal: One story published yesterday is that the Democrats are going to throw the governorship for the legislature; that the men who are running the Democratic machine will conduct the campaign solely with a view of capturing the United States senatorship. Today the Half Breed papers say that Babcock has made a great deal with Wisconsin democrats by which they agree to vote for republican candidates for congress in consideration of votes for the democratic candidate for governor. The public will be treated to a large number of campaign stories the next sixty days, and one may judge as well as another as to what stock is to be taken in the barns.

Milwaukee Sentinel: It is reported that Undergraduate Rose of Michigan university has announced his intention to whip Champion Jeffries as soon as he, Rose, graduates from college. On paper Mr. Rose appears to have certain qualifications for this arduous enterprise. He is 6 feet 7 in. in height, he weighs 275 pounds, and is the champion shot putter. "I can," he modestly says, "hit a harder punch than Jeffries and if I ever hit him on the neck I'll kill him." Mr. Jeffries would no doubt cheerfully jeopardize his neck to accommodate Mr. Rose in this matter, provided the gate receipts outlook was sufficiently rosy; but the general opinion certainly would strongly incline, not to Mr. Jeffries, but to Rose as the probable subject for the undertaker. But the main question suggested by Mr. Rose's alleged intention to become a prize fighter after he gets his diploma, how in the world can a student at a great university take it into his mind to take up such a calling? Perhaps Mr. Rose is an extreme example of that over-doing and over-rating of athletics that we hear so much of as the bane of our American colleges, and that results sometimes in a scandalous relaxing of entrance requirements in favor of young men of limited intellectuality but likely to strengthen track and football teams.

A SPINSTER SAYS THAT—

Life is worth living better than most men live it.

You can buy some men dirt cheap—if there are no other bidders.

The man who insists on talking things over invariably overtalks.

Some men stand up for the fair sex everywhere—except in a street car.

Lots of men get rich by helping other men to make fools of themselves.

It is always difficult for a man to understand why a woman doesn't admire him.

After winning a woman's hand a man sometimes finds himself under her thumb.

It isn't so much what a man has that makes him happy as what he doesn't want.

The chief end of man depends on whether he is wanted to do brain work or run errands.

If a young man has money he can get into society; if he has brains he can keep out of it.

A sensible man doesn't cry over spilt milk; he hustles around and gets some more milk tincture.

An egotist is a man who thinks it a waste of time to listen to what others have to say of themselves.

As a rule the men who are always howling about the scarcity of money never think of trying to earn it by honest labor.

The average man never realizes what an awful liar he is until his wife begins to remind him of the many promises he made during courtship.

Pigeon Came to Lunch.
While two members of the British house of commons were lunching in the restaurant of that body the other day a pigeon flew in at the window, and, after alighting on the floor, jumped on the table. It was evidently exhausted and hungry and eagerly took the food which was given it.

The Power of Modern Machinery

The first flour was made by pounding wheat kernels between two stones. Flour today is made by machinery. The first paint was made by mixing White Lead and Oil with a stick; the best paint (Heath & Milligan) is mixed by modern grinding machines built especially for this purpose, and there is the same difference between the first flour with its coarse particles and grit and the modern patent flour. The paint mixed by hand cannot be a perfect paint; it cannot be perfectly mixed and ground together with a stick.

Flour, water and a yeast cake will make good or poor bread according as you mix and handle them; so also White Lead, Linseed Oil and Zinc will make good or bad paint. Heath & Milligan Paint has been made for over fifty years, the proportions of each ingredient are exactly right, and ground together by massive machines into a very fine, perfect paint. Heath & Milligan Mixed Paint costs 50c per hundred square foot of surface painted (2 coats). Lead and Oil costs 71c. It is the fineness to which Heath & Milligan Paint is ground that makes it cost less to use. A pound of flour can be spread over a larger surface than a pound of sand. As to the wear Heath & Milligan Paint is guaranteed to wear fifty per cent longer than Lead and Oil. Remember all mixed paint is not alike. Buy the best—Heath & Milligan.

BURIED IN THE SEWER DITCH

WORKMAN NEARLY FOUND LIVING GRAVE TODAY.

CROWD CAUSED A CAVE-IN

By Pressing Too Near the Excavations—Big Section of Walls Gave Way.

While working in the sewer ditch on South Bluff street this morning one of the workmen barely escaped being buried alive. The men were engaged in throwing out dirt from the ditch when suddenly the walls on either side caved in, burying one of the men up to his shoulders in the ditch.

Cannot Keep Crowd Back Contractor Benson stated this morning that the crowd of curious onlookers force themselves up to the very edge of the ditch and if they are told to stand back a little they feel insulted. The work of digging the sewer with the machine cannot be carried on to advantage if people crowd up to the ditch and cause the earth to give away all around it as has been the case the past few days.

Cause of Accident The people crowding too close to the ditch was the cause of the accident this morning in which one of the workmen barely escaped being buried under eight feet of earth. Mr. Benson said that he would have to adopt some stringent measures to keep the people at their distance or he would be unable to hire men to do the work, as they are running a continual risk as matters now stand.

SOLEMN REQUIEM MASS THIS MORNING

At St. Mary's Church for the Late Mrs. John Koehler—Interment at Mt. Olivet.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. John Koehler were held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Mary's church. Rev. P. Scherer of Rubicon, Wis., a nephew of the deceased, celebrated solemn high mass. W. A. Goebel acted as deacon and Rev. Hans of Beloit acted as sub-deacon. The interment was at Mt. Olivet cemetery. The pallbearers were Simon Kuster, Fred Kuster, John Koehler, and Frank Koehler, sons and brothers of the deceased.

Funeral of Mrs. Behling Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Richard Behling will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lenz, 204 Western avenue, and from St. Paul's German Lutheran church at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. F. Koehler will officiate. Interment will be at Oak Hill cemetery.

CURRENT NEWS NOTES.

Engaged As Director: Mrs. Chas. Yates has been engaged by the Central M. E. church as musical director and leader of the chorus choir. The church is fortunate in securing her services.

Was One of the Starters: D. W. Wait of this city acted as one of the starters at the Monroe fair races yesterday.

H. R. Drummond Leaves: Mr. H. R. Drummond, who has had charge of the Gazette advertising for the past month, started for Des Moines, Iowa, last night to accept a position as advertising manager of the Des Moines Register and Leader. Mr. Drummond is the best ad-writer that the Gazette ever employed and the merchants who enjoyed the benefit of his services are more than pleased with results. The management regret that they were unable to retain him.

More Russian Thistles: Russian thistles can be found in abundance now in their natural state, rolling about the prairie lands of Spring Brook. True to the Gazette's description, they are similar to tumble weeds in their maturity.

Goes to Madison: Mr. A. C. Larson, agent for the Central Life Insurance company, has moved to Madison to accept a better position with the company. Promotion comes as the result of successful work in Janesville. Mr. Larson will visit the world's fair at the company's expense, having won first prize as a solicitor. His friends will wish him continued prosperity.

Three marriage Licenses: The following have secured licenses to marry: Ole K. Oleson and Alice Abild, both of Beloit; Clarence A. Scofield and Marie Kruter, both of Beloit; and Joseph Lathrop of Beloit and Mary Grogan of this city.

Many Hunters: The total number of hunting licenses issued for Rock county from the county clerk's office up to this afternoon was 554.

Druggists' Convention: J. P. Baker and George King left this morning for Beloit to attend the annual noon-day dinner and conference of the Rock County Druggists' association.

To Hear the Speech: A. H. Sheldon, member of the republican state central committee, W. S. Jeffris, and Orville Morse left this morning for Milwaukee to be present at the big meeting tonight at which M. G. Jeffris of this city is to open the campaign.

Hearing Continued: The case of the state against M. Mulvaney of Beloit, charged with stealing a grip in the Line city, was called in the municipal court this morning and adjourned a week when the defendant will have a jury trial. Attorney Wm. Dougherty was chosen to defend the young man.

Laid Up in Wheeling: Glen Snyder, who was formerly identified with the Parker Pen Co. and the Maynard Shoe Co. in this city, is in the hospital at Wheeling, West Virginia, as the result of the judgment in one of his eyes of a red hot cylinder while he was traveling on a train.

THE FIRST TEAM FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

Schedule of the Winter Classes, and Basketball Games Has Been Made Up for the Year.

Physical Director Ward of the Y. M. C. A. has made out his schedule of classes and basketball games for the winter. There will be no regular association basketball team, but instead a league of teams will be formed among the seniors. On Monday the junior gymnasium work will be conducted between 4:15 and 5:30; the intermediate class will be held from 7:00 to 8:00 and after that, until 9:30, the senior basketball teams will play. The business men's classes are set for Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 4:45 to 5:30. The seniors will have their regular gymnasium exercises on Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. The members of the intermediate department meet every Monday and Friday from 7:30 to 9:30. The juniors are divided into two classes—A and B. The A section comes together after school on Mondays and Thursdays and the B on Wednesday after school and Saturday morning from 9:00 to 11:30.

THE WEATHER.

A RE-RATING OF ALL LOCAL RISKS

MADE IN SPIKE OF THE HOME BOARD'S PROTEST.

INSURANCE MEN DISGUSTED

As It Is Feared That Union Stock Companies' Figures Here Will Be Higher.

Against the protest of the local board of fire insurance agents, the Field Men's club have commenced re-rating all risks in Janesville. This is taken to mean that the premiums of all policies in Union Stock companies on Janesville buildings will be raised. The Field Men's club is an organization of all the special agents or inspectors, as they are commonly called, formed for the purpose of re-rating every city in the state. The work has been completed in the majority of cities and Janesville is one of the few not finished. Formerly each place was rated according to what the special agent thought concerning it, but the new rates are all settled by schedule. The local board of union fire insurance agents voted not to allow the re-rating, but the work has been started notwithstanding. One rate which was formerly less than $1.75 a hundred has been raised to over $2.25. The larger number of rates in the city will be raised proportionately, though some may be lowered, due to the changed conditions and the new system. This rating effects only policies in union stock companies and not those in non-union stock or mutual. J. W. Lancaster of Milwaukee, advisory rater of the club, is at the head of the movement.

THIRTY-THREE ON MADISON GRIDIRON

The First Week of Genuine Training Brings Out Good Quota—Steffen Will Stay.

Walter Steffen, the little track star and quarterback from the North Division, Chicago, high school has gladdened the hearts of the football coaches at Madison by finally declaring his determination to remain there and by appearing on the campus in the uniform of the gridiron. He weighed out at 145 pounds, almost precisely the weight of Joe Fogg, Wisconsin's quarterback and field captain of the last three years, and some eight pounds heavier than Steffen was playing at last season. He was tried at catching the snap-back and passing the ball and his form was pronounced by coach Curtis as satisfactory. The names of the thirty-three men to appear on the gridiron are Captain Bush, Findlay, Remp Clark, Wrabetz, Robinson, H. Jones, Cummings, Simpson, Franzke, G. W. Jones, Wagner, Perry, O'Brien, Larish, Cecil Schreiber, Kuehnstedt, Miller, Dittmar, Hunt, Stromquist, Claiborne, Donovan, Conville, Acker, DeLappe, Steffen, Ekan, Schneider, Bailey, Heintz, Melner, and Watson.

HERMAN ARNLT DIED AT DAWN

At His Home on South Franklin Street Today After a Lingering Illness.

This morning at six o'clock death entered the Arndt home on South Franklin street and took from the family circle the husband and father, Herman Arndt, who has been a patient sufferer from stomach trouble for the past six months. The deceased was well-known about the city where he has lived for many years. He was 35 years of age and leaves to mourn his loss a wife and five small children. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

SHERMAN FISHER ON THE ST. LOUIS FAIR

Offers a Few Pointers to Intending Visitors—Tells About Exhibits—Food and Lodging Reasonable.

When you go to St. Louis to be robbed a pleasant disappointment is in store for you, according to Sherman Fisher. In the first place there are restaurants and hotels in the immediate neighborhood of the entrance as those obtaining in Janesville. On the grounds a fine cup of coffee and a large, round, juicy sandwich can be procured for the modest price of fifteen cents. And there is real cream in that coffee, too. People who are satisfied with the "sky blue article" can secure the above combination for ten cents. Many go to the exposition at six o'clock in the morning, when the gates are open, but none repeat the experiment as the buildings cannot be entered until nine. They close at five in the afternoon and the Pike is the popular place in the evening. Or the attractions on that thoroughfare Mr. Fisher says that the Battle of Santiago, New York to the North Pole, the Seaside Railway, the Irish Village, and the Trip to the Alps are good wholesome shows and well worth visiting. The Boer War is not in the Pike but is located near the River wheel and the stock exhibit. The performance are given but twice daily and last three hours. The grounds are located on an up hill which may be saved by taking the trains which run through the grounds to the summit of the hill. Mr. Fisher says that ladies may visit the fair, unattended, in perfect safety. The best of order is preserved and he did not see an intoxicated man on the grounds during his entire stay.

HORSE DRAGS IN THE EDDEN AUTO

Triumphant Entry of the Gasoline Chariot Witnessed This Morning—Balked Near Elkhorn.

Yesterday Dr. Edden of this city started out with his automobile to make an overland trip to the Elkhorn fair, and when but a few miles from the outskirts of the city, an accident happened to his machine, and the trip had to be abandoned. This morning the doctor sent his horse and carriage out after the machine and it was towed to the city, and put in the shops where necessary repairs are being made. The next time the doctor takes a long drive in the country he says he will take the horse and carriage and make a sure go of it from the start.

Mixed Metaphor. As a "mixed metaphor," not from the rostrum, but from the pulpit, I think the following can hardly be beaten: A preacher who was rebuking his flock for their apathy declared that but a spark of grace remained to show that they were alive at all. Then, in parentheses: "Lord, water that spark!"—London Spectator.

ON TRAIN HELD UP BY ROBBERS

MRS. WILMARTH TELLS OF THRILLING EXPERIENCE

AFTER LEAVING JANESVILLE

Was One of the Passengers on Rock Island Special Attacked by Masked Men Tuesday.

Mrs. J. C. Wilmarth as well as her husband seems to have had some exciting experiences on her return trip from the visit in Janesville. Letters from her, dated, Kansas City, Sept. 14, state that she, in the company of several other ladies from El Paso, Texas, were on the train that was held up near Muscatine, Iowa, last Tuesday noon. Though passengers were not disturbed, they were badly frightened and almost a panic ensued in the scramble to find places for hiding their valuables. They were not molested, however. After blowing up the safe the robbers detached the locomotive and ran it up the road thirty miles. There, after the fire had been put out and the boiler emptied, it was abandoned and the robbers escaped with their booty estimated at $20,000. The details of this hold-up were given in a dispatch received by the Gazette Tuesday.

ATHLETIC FIELD TO BE IMPROVED

After Football Season Grounds Will Be Leveled and Enlarged—Base Ball Next Year.

Immediately after the football season is over the athletic field will be ploughed up and levelled off. The fence on the left field will be put further back and the inclosed space enlarged. As a matter of fact the baseball diamond now is too rough for football. The improvements are to be made at this time owing to the fact that the Y. M. C. A. is planning to have a baseball team next season and games as good as those furnished several years ago by the same team may be expected. It is early yet to give any idea as to the personnel of the team.

LITTLE FRANCE

A ROMANCE OF THE DAYS WHEN "THE GREAT LORD HAWKE" WAS KING OF THE SEA

BY CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Author of "Commodore Paul Jones," "Reuben James," "For the Freedom of the Sea," etc.

Copyright, 1901, by J. Appleton & Co., New York.

After these in order of rank were ranged the chief officers and captains of the van division of the great French Armada. Among them, near the foot of the table, sat Donis de Vitre. He had been duly exchanged since his arrival and promoted to the rank of capitaine-de-fregate, and recently appointed executive officer of Le Thesee, still under the command of the Comte de Kersaint de Kerguelen.

Grafton's glance took in this line with one quick survey, and then turned to the other side of the table. His gaze swept past the marquises and rested upon the person who sat at his left hand. This place was occupied by the granddaughter of the house. He looked at her for a second, then closed his eyes as if the sight had dazzled him. Never had he seen her so beautiful, never had she presented so splendid and glorious a picture. Not in his most rapturous lover's dream had he imagined this.

She wore a dress of pale violet satin, with pippings of white and lacings of silver over the pointed bodice. It was cut low, of course, after the fashion of the day, and afforded a full view of her dazzling neck and shoulders. The gaze of other men upon them seemed to Grafton a profanation.

She was a perfect blaze of diamonds. The jewels of centuries, known and storied in the de Rohan traditions, had been wrought by cunning artificers into rare and beautiful forms to present a fit setting for her radiant beauty. A coronet of gems flashed in the mazes of her powdered hair. Diamond stars caught the bertha of matchless point lace which fell low over her corsage; diamond clusters fastened the little white plume that curled backward, like a sunbeam in a twilight, over her hair, rising softly from her sweet brow in the fashion of the time.

Low at her corsage she wore a bunch of priceless orchids whose purple and violet hues shot with touches of gold blended so exquisitely with the fabric of her gown.

Grafton had eyes for no one but her. He had known that she was beautiful even in the simplicity in which she had always been robed when he had seen her. He had known that she was the fairest of women, to him at any rate, but he never realized until now how magnificently royal she was in her rare and exquisite loveliness. His heart sank as he looked at her. She was one in a world. Surely this treasure in which Nature summed up the achievements of the past and anticipated the possibilities of the future could not be for him! But it did not for him, for no one, he swore. Yet he felt an intense sympathy for poor de Vitre, sitting haggard at the foot of the table, eating nothing, moodily draining his glass and staring at Anne. She was as far from him as Heaven.

Next to Anne, with the permission of the guests on account of the nature of the occasion, the marquises had placed the Comte de Kersaint, whose naval rank would not have entitled him to so high a seat at the table. Next to de Kersaint sat the gallant rear admiral, St. Andre du Verger, soon to die and win an immortal name for his heroism in the approaching battle. By his side was placed Monsieur de Bompard, chef-d'Escadre, or commodore, commanding a division of six ships of the line which had recently entered the harbor, aided by the unfortunate gale which had compelled Hawke to break the blockade for the time being—a welcome reinforcement indeed for de Confians.

The feast of the evening had been made to announce formally the engagement of Anne to de Kersaint. The countess had protested, and had again directly broached to her grandfather the subject of her plighted troth to de Vitre. The marquises had refused to hear her; as before, had pooh-poohed the whole affair as a girl's flirtation. What had maidens to do with hearts? he questioned. Those were luxuries reserved for married women. In the ethics of France in that day a maiden's duty was obedience. As for de Vitre, he was a cadet of an obscure house, no match for the last and most beautiful of the de Rohans. She surely was not in earnest!

Her grandfather's refusal would indeed relieve her honorably of the attentions of de Vitre, since she had expressly stipulated for his consent. But between de Vitre and de Kersaint she preferred the former, or, to speak by the card, she preferred neither. She wanted Grafton, and Grafton only. She was in as great unhappiness therefore in this new development as before. Unable, or unwilling, at that time, to break into open rebellion, especially now that she was separated apparently irrevocably from Grafton, Anne deemed it well to temporize. In spite of her flight, her renunciation of him, she was waiting and hoping to hear from the man she loved. She had only stipulated, therefore, that there was to be no formal betrothal, and that her grandfather should confine himself to the simple announcement at the feast that it was in contemplation.

Like Grafton, she was fighting for time. Indeed, in the engagement to de Kersaint she really thought there was a loophole for an escape before her. Between de Kersaint and de Vitre what might not happen? She was fully resolved never to marry de Kersaint, and her resolution with regard to de Vitre was not so strong as it had been. Absence, separation, both pleaded powerfully for Grafton. So she waited—and hoped still.

Laughter, jollity, merriment, subdued by the refinements and requirements of good breeding, floated around the table. Joy and good humor were reflected from every face except two. Hearts beat high in anticipation. The officers of the squadron, who had not yet received orders for the departure, felt that it was in the wind and eagerly anticipated it.

Grafton, who had ample time to study the people in the dining room as the banquet progressed, marked with a thrill of happiness that the universal joy was not reflected in the face of his love. Never had he seen it colder, paler, more filled with that ineffable disdain he loved to note when not meant for him. There was not the slightest touch of mirth and happiness in her features as her eyes restlessly swept the table. When her glance fell upon the huge and happy Frenchman who sat next her, Grafton noticed that she seemed to shrink from him. None but a lover's eye could have detected the movement, but to him it was plain.

"Gentlemen," said the marquises at last, the feast having been concluded by this time, "before the Countess Anne retires I wish you to drink a health with me."

"A health! A health!" cried the men, thrusting their chairs back from the table, seizing their full glasses and rising to their feet as they spoke.

"Messieurs," cried the old man in his high-pitched old voice, "I give you the health of the Demoiselle de Rohan and the Comte de Kersaint, and I announce to you the engagement which has been entered upon between this son and daughter of Brittany, to carry on and perpetuate the two ancient races."

This was death and agony to Grafton. It was only by the strongest constraint that he could keep himself from bursting into the room.

"Vive la Demoiselle de Rohan!"

"Vive de Kersaint!"

"Long life and happiness to the pride of Brittany!" resounded through the hall as the men drank the toast with enthusiasm.

"Shiver your glasses, gentlemen, when you drink to the Demoiselle de Rohan!" cried the marquises when he had drained his own, at the same time dashing his priceless cup to the floor.

Amid the crashing of the crystal, therefore, Anne, pale as a ghost, the image of everything but joy, rose to her feet and lifted her own glass.

"Messieurs," she said, softly, "I drink to you and to France." She bowed low before them amid a murmur of admiration evoked by her grace and beauty, and continued: "And I thank you. And now, with your permission, Monsieur le Marquis and gentlemen all, I will withdraw. Resume your seats, messieurs. I thank you again for your congratulations."

The marquises handed her to the door. Grafton noticed that she tottered as she withdrew. The scene had been too much for her. He had shot one swift glance toward the foot of the table, too, and he had noticed that one glass had not been lifted when the toast had been drunk, and that it still stood brimming with wine upon the board in front of the haggard de Vitre. The American pitied him, his misery was so great and so apparent. Meanwhile congratulations from all sides were bestowed upon de Kersaint. The men crowded around him, shaking him by the hand, drinking healths to him from fresh glasses which had been brought, and overwhelming him with exclamations which he bore with good-humored modesty.

Grafton would have left the armory at once to follow Anne had he not faithfully promised Josette to stay there until she summoned him. He waited, therefore, in increasing impatience. He was glad, however, even in the midst of his passion, that he had remained, when he heard Admiral de Confians tapping the table and requesting silence.

"Gentlemen," he said, as the tumult died away and the men subsided into their seats once more, "with the permission of my friend, the Marquis de Chabot-Rohan, I will propose a toast to you, and at the same time make an announcement. The English have been driven from the blockade by the fierce gales and I intend to go to sea. Amid such loyal friends and supporters I do not hesitate to say that we are bound for the enemy's country. I first propose to take the English squadron in Quiberon bay, to embark there the officers and men of the brave army commanded by Monsieur le Duc d'Alguillon and Marechal Belloc, and then away for Ireland, crushing any one who may endeavor to stay our progress; and if that be Admiral Hawke, let him look to his ships!"

The hall was filled with shouts of approval and joyful exclamations.

"A moment, gentlemen," continued the old admiral, smiling his approbation of the enthusiasm of his subordinates and making a fine figure, with his powdered head, weather-beaten, heavily old face, his rich uniform covered with gold lace, and his breast covered with orders—a moment, while I give you the toast. Fill your glasses and drink deep with me: Death to the enemies of the king; confusion to the English; success to our endeavor! Vive la France!"

A perfect roar of applause and acquiescence swept through the room. Men sprang upon the chairs crying and cheering, some tore down the banners and flags from the walls, waving them frantically, and shouting themselves hoarse in their excitement. They would shout another way, sing another tune once the grim English Hawke got his talons in them, thought Grafton—still, 'twas a pretty sight. He alone seemed to read an old sentence on the wall.

"When do you sail, Monsieur de Confians?" asked the archbishop, when he could be heard above the tumult. There was an instant silence as they all waited in tense excitement to receive the reply.

"Monsieur," answered the old admiral, inclining his head toward the prelate, "I beg you to invoke a blessing upon our undertaking. Silence, gentlemen!"

The officers stood with bowed heads while the venerable archbishop, rising and lifting a white hand in the air, breathed forth an eloquent prayer for the success of their arms. The amens with which the guests ratified his passionate petition were not less deep and fervent than had been their cries a moment since.

"Most Reverend Father," returned the admiral, as the prayer was concluded, "as to the time of sailing? As soon as the wind changes, monsieur, and lets us get away from the harbor."

There was a sudden clashing of arms on the stair. A young soldier, an officer of cavalry, strode into the room through the open door. He stopped before the admiral, clicked his heels together with military precision, and saluted.

"Monsieur le Marechal," he said, "I have a message to you from the port admiral."

"What is it, sir?"

"He bids me tell you that the wind had changed within the hour and 'tis now blowing fair for you to leave the harbor."

"Gentlemen," cried the admiral, "we sail at six in the morning. We have much to do. Monsieur le Marquis, you will pardon us if we withdraw thus early? Come, come, messieurs, the toasting and feasting are over, the time of war begins."

Grafton felt a touch on his arm. The anxious face of Josette loomed up out of the darkness near his shoulder.

"Come with me," she whispered, softly.

As he turned to go, he heard the admiral say to de Kersaint:

"Monsieur, you may remain here an hour or two longer. Your ship, I know, is in readiness to weigh anchor, and so long as you are aboard at the appointed time I shall be satisfied. I am loath to part from you so charming a fiancée in so unceremonious a way. Yes," he continued, in answer to a question, "you may retain Capt. de Vitre."

Grafton drew the hood over his head once more, and wrapping the cloak closely about him turned and followed the nervous Josette, as she stepped rapidly through the hall and up the stair. The corridors were filled with gentlemen and servants, and though one or two cast glances of curiosity and suspicion at the maid and her companion, they were neither accosted nor detained. Just as they entered upon the stair the steward came into the corridor and gazed earnestly at them.

As Grafton found himself mounting the tower stair he discovered his heart beating almost to suffocation. He was to see Anne, to speak to her again, perhaps to take her in his arms, to kiss her once more. He forgot his frigate outside, he forgot the French fleet, his duty, everything, for the moment, but his love. How could he greet him? He would soon know. They were approaching her door.

"Have you told her that I am here?" he asked Josette.

"No, monsieur."

"That's well."

"Shall I announce you now?"

"By no means. Do you stand by the door here and give me warning of any approach."

"You would not harm the Countess Anne, monsieur?" she asked, laying her hand upon his arm and looking at him beseechingly. "You will remember that she is but a woman who loves you?"

"I love her too, Josette. I swear to you I would rather die than harm should come to her. Rest easy. And enter without hesitation should I be in danger of discovery. Is this the door?"

She nodded her head. He pressed her hand softly, opened the door, parted the curtains, and entered the room.

CHAPTER XXIV.

THREE LOVERS COULD TO THE TOWER.

THE Countess Anne was seated in a chair at a table at the other side of the room within the oriel window. She was dressed just as she had been when she left the dining-room a few moments before. She sat with her back toward him and with her face buried in her hands. He could see by the trembling of her shoulders that she was weeping. He had made no sound as he entered and she did not look up. He stood for an instant watching her, his heart in his gaze. Time meant liberty—nay, life—to him, yet if the sword had been at his throat he could not have refrained from that moment of contemplation.

How exquisite was her beauty, that wondering look of hair curling so tenderly about her neck! How he longed to kiss it! He moved a step nearer to her, involuntarily stretching out his hands toward her. At the same moment she lifted her head and looked out into the night through the window in the direction of Canada.

"Philip, Sir Philip!" she whispered pitifully. "So far away!"

Astonishing Good News To Such Sufferers.

The D.D.D. Remedy Gives Instant Relief.

PERMANENTLY CURES.

Have you been—or do you know anyone who has been—in a living hell of torture with a skin disease? Despair usually seizes those so afflicted. Many imagine it is in the blood and too subtle to cure. Doctors have stood baffled and helpless against Eczema. Half of them think its worse forms are blood poison. Ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of manifestations on the skin are purely local—SKIN disease—not BLOOD disease. Healthy blooded people break out as often as any one; the blood has nothing to do with it in most cases. It is a parasite in the skin that spreads. This prescription is today completely clearing away—quickly too—and permanently curing every trace of such parasitic trouble and leaves the skin soft, healthy and perfect. Call at our store and investigate the unquestionable proofs in our possession. The prescription is a liquid for external application—non-greasy—does not stain or discolor the wearing apparel. It comes under authentic label of the D. D. D. Company of Chicago, who solely compound the prescription for druggists everywhere.

Don't Buy Any Whiskey Until You Read This

DO YOU KNOW that choice grain and pure water are the two essentials for making good whiskey?

DO YOU KNOW that Government statistics prove that the Miami Valley, in the very heart of which our distillery is located, produces the best grain and has the purest water of any section of this country?

DO YOU KNOW that we have one of the largest and most completely equipped distilleries in the world?

DO YOU KNOW that we have had over 37 years' experience in distilling good whiskey?

DO YOU KNOW that we have a capital of $500,000.00, paid in full?

DO YOU KNOW that we have more whiskey in our bonded warehouses than any other distiller in the world?

DO YOU KNOW that there is more HAYNER WHISKEY sold than any other brand of whiskey in the world?

DO YOU KNOW that we supply regularly with HAYNER WHISKEY nearly half a million of the most prominent and influential business and professional men in this country?

DO YOU KNOW that these are the very people who want the best and wouldn't be satisfied with anything else?

DO YOU KNOW that HAYNER WHISKEY goes direct from our distillery to you, with all its original strength, richness and flavor, thus assuring you of perfect purity and saving you the enormous profits of the dealers?

DO YOU KNOW that WE ARE THE ONLY DISTILLERS IN THE WORLD WHO SELL DIRECT TO CONSUMERS, though we have many imitators who call themselves distillers? These imitators don't distill a drop of whiskey. They are simply dealers who buy to-day cheap spirits made yesterday and, after "doctoring" it up, sell it to-morrow as 8 to 20 year-old whiskey. It is nothing but cheap adulterated spirits and nearly half water. We sell whiskey, pure whiskey, all whiskey and no water. You cannot buy anything purer, better or more satisfactory than HAYNER WHISKEY no matter how much you pay.

IF YOU DIDN'T KNOW these facts before, you know them now, and, knowing them, how can you longer doubt our ability to please you? How can you hesitate to accept our offer? YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU'RE NOT SATISFIED.

OUR OFFER

We will send you FOUR FULL QUART BOTTLES of HAYNER'S SEVEN YEAR-OLD RYE for $3.20 and we will pay the express charges. Try it and if you don't find it all right and as good as you ever used or can buy from anybody else at any price, then send it back at our expense and your $3.20 will be returned to you by next mail. Just think that offer over. How could it be fairer? If you are not perfectly satisfied, you are not out a cent. Better let us send you a trial order. If you don't want four quarts yourself, get a friend to join you. We ship in a plain sealed case, no marks to show what's inside. Write our nearest office NOW.

Orders for Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington or Wyoming must be on the basis of 4 quarts for $4.00 by Express Prepaid, or 30 Quarts for $16.00 by Freight Prepaid.

Divining Rod.
A divining rod is a rod with forked branches, usually made of witch hazel, but sometimes of iron, or even of brass and copper, and used by those that pretend to tell where water, minerals and metals are underground. According to the superstition, the rod is said to dip when held over the desired spot.

Labor Colonies.
The institution of labor colonies has now been tried in Belgium for ten years and is found a useful means of coping with the difficulties of employing the idle and the inefficient, as well as the professional beggar and the bad character. There are almost 8,000 persons employed in the government colonies.

TWO STORES

J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS. SILKS FOR SUITS.

The shirt waist suit is here to stay for some time. If one would see the most, the best styles, best values it is necessary to visit The Big Store. Here can be found styles enough to make one think one is in a large State Street store. Women who have not seen our new fall showings have a pleasant surprise awaiting them, being larger and more complete than ever before, which is saying much.

Now Is Just the Time to pick out a suit length while we show every desirable color and styles enough to entertain one for hours. All of the New Things are shown—Iridescent mixtures, checks, stripes, blacks, dots, Dresden and Persians, and every desirable color in plain silks and satins. The new plaid silks are here, although they will not occupy the most prominent place this fall. Prices, 49c, 75c, 85c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50.

New Fur Stock Now Ready

This season is to be a splendid one to buy furs.

The annual auctions held at London and Nizhni Novgorod, where the prices are made for furs brought heavy reductions in values.

The reason for this is that at both markets there was a large and comprehensive collection of beautiful furs and, as this commodity, like all others is regulated by supply and demand, the prices dropped. We were fortunate in buying our fall stock of these goods and are in splendid shape to fill your orders.

NEARSEAL JACKETS—The finest line we have ever shown, most perfect fit known, new full sleeve with cuff, many with beautiful fancy linings same as in genuine seal. In quality they are hard to detect from the genuine. Some plain, others trimmed with martin and beaver; 24, 26 and 30 in. lengths; $45 to $75.

ELECTRIC SEAL GARMENTS—Called Nearsel by many merchant; $25 to $35.

CAPE FOR ELDERLY LADIES in Electric Seal, Wool Seal and Astrakhan.

SMALL FURS

SCARFS—in Brown Opposum to match the new brown suits. We show a very strong line of these; the same in black also; $4 to $18.

Natural Opposum for Misses—very serviceable; $4 to $10.

ISABELLA FOX SCARFS—larger line than ever, great success with them. Flat and round shapes and straight in the new effects; $8 to $10.

BLACK MARTIN SCARFS—Always in demand because they wear so well; prices, $7 to $30.

BLUE FOX SCARFS—Very desirable and pretty.

BEAR SETS shown in great variety.

SMALL NECK AND FANCY SUIT PIECES—We show in squirrel, mink, muleskin, musk, and fox. Inexpensive and fashionable.

FULL LINE OF MUFFS.

Orders taken for high grade fur garments at prices up to $1,000, and money saved for you on every order.
